

What is gold, white, and black all over? Everything.

By: Alex Barton-Perez

If you go to a store that sells home décor, office supplies, furniture, or clothes, there's a really good chance that you will see the colors gold, white, and black. Sugar Paper LA, a store that basically sells all things gold, white, and black, teamed up with Target. So Target filled its stores with pillows, lampshades, candles, and notebooks that are all gold, white, and black. Now everyone has picked up on this gold, white, and black craze.

Everyone loves timeless pieces. Gold, black, and white are great colors to ensure an item is a timeless piece. This is why these colors are so popular right now. Not to mention these items stay in style longer giving you more bang for your buck.

If you are a person who loves to stand out and be different, but can't resist the temptation to buy everything gold, white, and black, you're in luck. Since these colors are so neutral, they work with basically any pattern and go great with any pop of color. So go ahead, buy that bright pink couch you've always wanted because there will definitely be black with gold accent or gold with white accent pillows at any store you go to.

I promise you that adding gold, white, and black to your desk, bedroom, or apartment is a great decision. There is so much room to have fun and be creative with these three colors. Items with this color scheme can make any space look trendy. Not to mention everything I've seen in these colors have been super cute, and who doesn't like super cute stuff?
